ERIC S.

The butcher with the knife in my picture represents the upper class. The sheep represent the lower class because when it comes to the butcher, (upperclass) they can't do anything bad to him and if they do, they get in big trouble. The wooden fence represents the poverty cycle. If the sheep try getting outside of the fence, the butcher (upperclass) will just throw them back in. The butcher has all of the power over the sheep.

explain

how does the rich class keep them in line
